

Our many grandkids and I would love to see the Museum be able to put up more child-accessible, hands-on exhibits. If we all make the Museum a success, perhaps there will be many more ways for children to imagine what it was like to live in pioneer days.

*Dear Fort Walla Walla Museum,
Thank you very much for the opportunity to learn a little bit more about our community. The students loved it!*
-Mrs. Joann Williams,
Assumption School, Walla Walla

“... for a quick history lesson on how this particular bit of the Wild West was settled, visit the excellent Fort Walla Walla Museum.”
-The Sunday Herald, October 12, 2008
 (“Scotland's award-winning independent newspaper”)

No gimmicks, no made-up heritage, just the people who proudly live and work here and call it home. That character comes from a deep place and deserves to be preserved.

the past ...*

the future!*

ANNUAL FUND DRIVE

Fort Walla Walla Museum exists to preserve and share the rich heritage of the Walla Walla region. Because our budget is substantially smaller than most similar-sized museums, we rely on the commitment of our supporters in the community. Your gift to the Annual Fund Drive enables us to maintain and enhance our programs, services, and exhibits.

Preserving

Fort Walla Walla Museum's visibility has increased significantly over the years. In fact, at the rate of more than 100 per month, we receive artifact donations faster than many other museums in the state. Your gift to the Annual Fund Drive helps us process artifacts and ensure these regional treasures are preserved now and for future generations.

Sharing

Last year more than 7,700 children experienced their heritage through our exhibits and educational programs such as our Kids' Camps and admission-free School Tour Program. Your gift enables us to provide many new exhibits and allows us to pursue increased support from foundations, trusts, corporations, and other grantors.

Regional

Fort Walla Walla Museum benefits the region in two major ways. It enhances our quality of life by preserving and sharing regional cultural heritage with surrounding communities through exhibits, services, and educational programs. As one of our region's major attractions, the Museum also serves as an economic engine by bringing in visitors from all 50 states and more than 30 countries each year.

Heritage

The Living History Company offers more than 40 performances each year. Our programs and outreach efforts have been described as "unquestionably ... the most ambitious public programming of any heritage organization in the state." -David Nicandri, President Washington State Historical Society
